I want the method to work for any type (i.e. any class). Is there any way to do that? public void Transaction() { //write xml } The reason i want it to be generic is to be able to write a generic method like... public void Transaction() { //write xml } Any sample code would be greatly appreciated.

'Battered Women' Exhibit Premieres at Smithsonian National Museum of the American Indian On October 10, just outside the Washington, DC, metro area, the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian (NMAI) hosted a three-day event to celebrate the launch of a new exhibit, "Battered Women." The exhibit is the first museum-scale collection of its kind, featuring 91 artifacts and text panels illustrating different aspects of Native American women's lives and experiences. The exhibit, along with its accompanying book and traveling exhibit, demonstrate how Native women's struggles have been common for centuries.

The exhibit follows scholars on the trail for three years, and in the process, shed light on widespread issues facing Native women today, from the reservation to the urban setting. The book, "Landscape of Heartbreak: Women's Struggles for Identity," offers 30 chapters by 25 scholars and explores how the rise of Christianity, issues of generational violence, and government intervention on reservations have had a lasting impact on Native women. The National Museum of the American Indian, held in Washington, DC, is an organization that brings together American Indian and Alaska Native art, history, and culture, and provides lifelong learning opportunities in the United States. The NMAI's three day event featured performances by Native artists and activists, traditional Native music, and traditional dances.
